

About the Medical Center

The Syracuse VA Medical Center is a tertiary care facility located at the geographic center of New York State. It is adjacent to State University of New York (SUNY) Upstate Medical University and Syracuse University. The Medical Center provides acute medical and surgical services, acute mental health, rehabilitative medicine, and intensive care. It has a 50-bed nursing home that provides short-term transitional care.

The Medical Center offers a vast array of outpatient specialty services, in addition to primary care. They include emergency medicine, cardiology, hematology/oncology, women's health, geriatric medicine, and behavioral health.

The research and development service at the Syracuse VA supports a comprehensive medical research program. Over 40 researchers are investigating areas such as diabetes, drug dependence, heart disease, cancer, bladder disease, and telemedicine.

The Syracuse VA is academically affiliated with SUNY Upstate Medical University. It provides education to medical students, residents and fellows. A long-standing educational partnership exists with Syracuse University where audiology, speech pathology and social work students receive their field experience at the VA.

Syracuse VA operates eight community-based outpatient clinics in: Massena, Watertown, Oswego, Rome, Auburn, Cortland, Ithaca, and Binghamton providing primary care and mental health services to the veterans who live in the 18 counties of Central New York.
